Plans for New State Guard of 10,000 Told

Everyone in the newly formed California State Guard will not carry a rifle, it was revealed today by Acting Adjutant General Joseph O. Donovan.

The plan is to have 5,000 uniformed but unarmed members of the guard for specialized service, in addition to the approximately 5,000 riflemen who will be trained. The guard is taking the place of the national guard.

One of the groups in the new division will be a mosquito fleet of private power boats owned and operated by sportsmen in coast cities.

Other unarmed groups will include a fire fighting division for the protection of forests; a highway division for gathering information, protecting highways and keeping the highways open for military use in emergency; motorcycle scouts of youths not yet of military age, a women and girls division for first aid, and a radio division of more than 100 young amateur radio operators who have short wave equipment and are accessible in an emergency.

Donovan indicated Gov. Culbert Olson had approved the tentative plans.

Greek War Relief Ball Saturday at Hermosa Biltmore

The week of March 22 to 27 inclusive has been designated as Greek Relief Week by Gov. Olson.

The local executive committee, composed of Mayors Bell of Redondo, Jones of Hermosa, Biech of Manhattan, Binder of El Segundo, McGuire of Torrance, and Roessler of Palos Verdes, start their drive in this area with the Greek Relief Dance to be held in the ballroom of the Hermosa Biltmore Hotel this Saturday night, March 22.

Through the efforts of Mayor Biech and Mrs. Esther Scott, Duke Bentley, California's youngest maestro, and the former Orville Knapp orchestra has been secured to furnish the music for the evening. More than 50 door prizes have been secured through the courtesy of South Bay merchants.

Tickets are now on sale at the D & D Drug Company in Redondo, Sheehan's in Hermosa, and the Modern Drug Company in Manhattan. The event is informal. Every dollar sent from the South Bay area goes to help the people of Greece.

FHA Expansion Would Spur New Home Building

Expansion of the Federal Housing Administration insured mortgage plan to provide for speculative building by contractors is now being considered by a U. S. Senate committee and a vote is believed due in the near future. If adopted, this measure gives every indication of spurring home-construction on a large scale.

The program now being considered provides that building-contractors may build homes and receive benefits of the FHA 90 percent loan plan. At the present time individual prospective home-owners may obtain 90 percent loans without having to live in or occupy the premises constructed under FHA.

Proponents of the enlarged FHA plan point out that, although it is designed as a "national defense measure" to stimulate building of homes for industrial plant workers, it will not be confined to any particular locality. Workers may buy homes from builders or contractors for a down payment of 5 percent.

Then they may live in the homes for a period of six to eight months with the rental applied on the down payment until they acquire a 10 percent equity in the property. At that point, the prospective buyer may apply to take over the whole loan. The new plan holds considerable interest for contractors because they may start construction of single or tract homes in FHA approved areas with but a small investment.

Group Starts Yuletide List For '41 Gifts

ELKINS PARK, Pa.—(UP)—Most persons now may be easing the strain on New Year's resolutions and struggling to pay the bills for Christmas, 1940, but Mrs. Olive Wilson Hammer is planning the 65,000 gifts she will send to children in 23 states at Christmas, 1941.

Mrs. Hammer is head of the "Santa Claus Mall Association", which has sent hundreds of gifts each year since 1913 to deserving children throughout the United States.

"We begin in January to buy up the thousands and thousands of toys we would need to provide a gift for each of the names sent us by groups all over the nation—names of children who otherwise would receive nothing for Christmas," Mrs. Hammer said.

"From January on, the seven other women in the group and I sift names, planning specific gifts and continuing our purchasing until we have enough toys to go around. Donations and subscriptions totaling $5,000 made last year's work possible."

Social agencies and institutions throughout the nation send Mrs. Hammer lists of names.
